It is my painful duy to annumes by you that the slipper ship Sas Witch, Captain Lang, of your port, from Shina, with 500 Chinese sanigrants, weat ashere on the scoles, about 15 miles to the Iseaard of this port, at about 4 e'slock A. M., on the morning of the 28th inst. Captain lang arrived here on the Afrancon of the same day, but not having had the pleasure of meeting him, I have been mable to betain any distinct account as to the manner in which the accident occurred. One person who conversed with Captain Lang, talls me he was used in his reckoning, believing himself to be forty miles to the northward of the ngot where the Sas Witch went ashers. The Spanish war stemaners Gandburder and Cangers, also several barges, went these same sight to the accidence of the Sas Witch. The two stemmer returned the same creaning with the crew and Chinese. They have a usual, been placed in quarantiae, but it is generally understood the Sas Witch is a total wreck, as dwill go, erhas gone to pieces. Captain Lang, I have beared to estated, only took command of the Sas Witch at Rio James, when the ship was on her passage to the East Miles accumulations. The same was been placed to the state of the Sas Witch at Rio James, when the ship was on her passage to the East Miles and the state of the Sas Witch at Rio James, when the ship was on her passage to the East Miles and All Miles an

of the Sea Witch-Commercial News, &c. The American bark C. E. Fowler, Palmer, which arrived here early the past week, has reported to the American Consul and Commodore Paulding, that, for necessity of the ship, he sent a boat ashore at Lucretia have bor, 50 miles east of Remedies, containing the mate to three of his crew. That the boat was seized, and his men, he presumes, made prisoners. He observed with his glass that the tout was taken out of sight, either behind a small key, or into the mouth of a stream. Sime time after the landing the mate was perceived upon the seach waving his shirt, as a signal to the ship, but the weather and the narrow channel prevented the captain from sending another boat to ascertain the cause of the vie-lence and detention of the men and boat.

The matter was reported to the Captain-General by Commodore Paulding, and the necessary instructions were sent to that district to have the men brought here forthwith for examination. An answer was received to the effect that the men were perfectly safe, and were on their way to Havans. As the story goes, the captain became alarmed, and deserted them without any cause, before they had had time to fill their water, for which purpose they had to go out of view of the chip. The signals of the mate were to preentip. The signals of the mate were to pre-went the captain from leaving him. Such is the present version of the affair, very much to the prejudice of the too timid captain, and, I am giad to my, in justification of the Spanish officials of the district, by whom they were sent forward before the instruc-tions of Gen. Coneha had been received. What may be the actual story of the men, we shall know when they arrive.

In turkey, where the disease, appearing in a milder form, is nevertheless fata to a sound state of heatts, imported there shall many places in the State, and most places in privare families, which might be better occupied by free natives. So placed, they minister to those habits of expense and sensuality which undermine the strength of the empire, and convey but too often the sentiments of a slave into posts of high command and honor able trust.

Such being the case, it is not too much to expect that, in its own interest, as well as firm consideration for its slices, the Porte will exert itself to check the barbarous and shameful practice which I have dearrised. Let preventive measures be applied to three stages of the traffic-to purchase, to conveyance, and to sale. Let a firman occlare the Saltan's pleasure in these respects. Let an order from Constantinople to prohibit the purchase of slaves be sent to the commanders of his Majesty's forces. Let the conveyance of slaves be treated as contraband, on the responsibility of all concerned. Let their sale within the Sultan's pleasure in the surface of the wind prevented by the police, and every transgression bristed thy purishment on buyer and seller slike.

So long as the trade is permitted or connived at; so long as preventive measures, capable of enjorcement, are lossely, or not at all employed, the Turkish authori is will justly be open to censure, and incer, to their peril, the charge of acting upon principles innomistant in spirit and effect with the existing sillances."

BREAKING UP OF THE ICE IN CONNECTICUT RIVER.—OPENING OF NAVIGATION.—The mild, moist, steaming weather of the last two or three days has pretty effectually taken off the ice in the river, which is now clear in front of this city. At the Narrows, near Middletown, it is still fast, but will probably move off during the mext twenty-four hours. The water is rising steadily, but not very rapidly; it has risen, at this point, about three fact. The steamboats are to commence running between this city and New York as soon as the river is clear. The City of Hartford will leave New York to morri w (Satarday) affernoon, and it is expected she will arrive here sunday morning. Business has already commenced in the loading of propellers and vessels, and in a few days we shall be in the midst of the spring business ordinarily brought about by the opening of navigation. Handreds who have been waiting for the opportunity of getting their freight transported at the cheaper rates will be rejoiced at the opening of navigation on the river.—Hartford Times, April 4.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

SUNDAY, April 6-6 P. M. Within the past two or three days there have been nore_decided incleations of an upward movement in stocks. The operations have been larger, and operators have purchased freely on time, buyer's option, at a date sufficiently remote to carry maturity well into the speculative season. The month of March having passed away without the usual stringency in the money market, public confidence has become strengthened, and the disposi-tion to expand individual credit is daily extending. The month of April will about close up the spring trade with the interior, but it will open the trade with the sea-port markets. We shall probably have, before the close of this month, a full and perfect resumption of internal savigation. This will give a great impetus to all kinds of business, and load our railroads with produce for transportation to Eastern markets. The immense amount of grain, &c., in every part of the Western country, will nove forward rapidly as the erop now in the ground approaches maturily. As soon as it can be clearly seen that the growing crop will be a large one, we shall have an enormous rush of present supplies to the scaboard. The old crop must come forward for consumption, and we during the rest of this year. Cheap food will give an impolee to all manufacturing and mechanical pursuits, and rake all branches of industry more remunerative. Money is likely to be more abundant than ever. The promulgation of peace in Europa will let loose a vast mount of capital, and we have no doubt it will be cheaper than has been known for years. It has for some time past been our opinion that the aunouncement of peace would create a demand throughout Europe for Ame ican securities equal to anything ever before known, and the effect upon prices; and upon our own markets, cannot be otherwise than favorable. The next isnk report will, without doubt, show quite a decrease in | amount. If our importations continue long at this rate,

The special committee appointed to investigate a'l matters connected with the consolidation of the Central lines of railroad in this State, under the act of 1855, have commenced their labors. The committee censusts of Meastra. Northrup, Prendergast, Hoyle, Mattern and Smith, and L. E. Sessions, of Smitauque, is elerk. Measta George Craumer, George H. Warren and James Forsyth appeared on behalf of the stockholders, and obtained subprenss to compet the attendance of witnesses. Being required to make direct charges against the composition, of all matters they expected to prove, the prosecution submitted specifications setting forth the various acts of corruption and unfair dealing of which, according to the accusers, the directors have been guilty.

Mr. Jacob Sternberg, who was transfer clerk of the Utics and Scheneckady read in 1853, and subsequently in the same employ in the New York Central Company, testified as follows:—

E. D. Morgan owned all the stock in the Troy and Scheneckady Railroad at the time of the consolidation; this was the 7th of July that the stock was so re urned; the amount of capital stock was so fe urned; the amount of capital stock was so fe urned; the amount of capital stock was subsequently surrendered of the code company. The new stock was issued to E. D. Morgan, and the parties to whom he tansferred the New York Central stock, after the opening of the books of the new company. The new stock was issued at various times. First, 10th of Angust, 3,200 shares; cascond, 23d of August, 900 shares; third, 5th of September, 271 shares. On the 25th August 600 shares on transfer of E. D. Morgan to A. P. Morgan, and on same day E. D. Morgan to J. N. L. A correspondent at Milwankie, under date of March 29, gives the following brief history of each railroad running from that city to the North or West:—

Milwankie to La Crosse, on the Mississippi river. It is now completed to Eim Grove (60 miles), and will be opened to Fortage, on the Wisconsin river, this year. This enterprise is looked upon with much favor, and is considered a good investment. I believe that the company are on the eve of completing a contract for the completion of the whole road.

Milwankie and Hericon Resiroad leaves the La Crosse road at Horicon, and runs northward. It is now open to Wangen—will be finished to Berlin this year—is already surveyed to Siephens' Point. Survey will be extended to a point on Lake Superior this season.

Milwankie and Waterlown Rathroad.—This road runs for a sew miles on the Milwankie and Ministippi roed, then leaves and runs to Waterlown. I understand that this road has been sadly mismanaged, and that the stock is lew. A complete change has just been made in the management, and better times are expected. I have not looked much into the matter, but would call your attention to the fact that this road occupies a position midway between the La Crosse and Mississippi lines. It is therefore enabled, by extending its line to Portage or Madisen, to compete with both of these Mines on considerably shorter distance. A giance at the map will show this. At the recent election for Mayor in Madison, the sect question (I have beard it said,) was not Parstow or Rashford—but, Shall the Waterlown road people carried the day, and I believe they expect amediates from Madison, to and them in construction. Surveys on this road are about to be made to Portage.

Milwankie and Mississippi Resiroad is running to Madison.

believe they expect assistance from Madison to aid them in construction. Surveys on this road are about to be made to Portage.

Mileconsist and Missistippi Radiood is running to Madison. The contractor says he will run into Prairie du Chien in the 26th of December next. This road stands high in the estimation of all with whom I have spoken upon the subject. The management under Mr. Hroadhead is pepular, and I must say that when I rode over the line to Madison last year, I was as much pleased with universal good conduct in everything as I was surprised at the number of passengers on the train and the fertill y of the country through which I passed. The only blemish that I could see in the time is the extreme and unnecessary amount of curvatures.
